

APLAR Conference Travel Grant Announcement

Application Closes on 31 May 2024

Invitation

The Asia Pacific League of Associations for Rheumatology (APLAR) invites APLAR Young Rheumatologists (AYR) to submit their application for the APLAR Conference Travel Grant. APLAR will grant up to 50 need-based travel stipends to AYR members with an accepted abstract for a poster, oral, or rapid-fire presentation for 2024.

The grant assists AYR in covering part of the travel expenses for attending the APLAR Conference. The grant will include complimentary registration to the conference and the following need-based allowance to cover part of the estimated travel and lodging costs of attending the conference:

- US$ 500 if AYR members reside in the country where the annual conference is held.
- US$ 1000 if AYR members reside outside the country where the annual conference is held.

Grant recipients will be personally responsible for all travel arrangements including, but not limited to, air/train/bus tickets, hotel booking, and insurance.

Only completed applications with the correct supporting documents will be considered and the grant decision will be made by the APLAR Scientific Committee based on merit and need. Endorsement by the APLAR Board of Directors on the travel grant is final.

Application

The offer is valid only for:

- Member of AYR; and
- Have not received a travel grant before.

Priority will be given to applicants:

- with an accepted oral presentation over those with an accepted poster or abstract.
- who have never attended APLAR Conference.

The following documents need to be enclosed with the application:

- A curriculum vitae including a recent 2 x 2-inch photograph.
- Cover letter, making a (need-based) case for applicants' selection for the travel grant. The letter should specify if and how the applicants get funded for their training (for example, whether they need to work to pay for living expenses and/or to conduct their research), if they have access to travel funds to attend conferences (through their schools/hospital or grants), and if and how they have exhausted the travel funds.
- A letter from their direct supervisors confirming the applicant's source of funding during the year (i.e., a scholarship, a stipend, or any other research funding) and verifying that the applicant does not have access to additional travel funds.
